AN ARGENTINE CHANGE
WHAT WILL MAINE DO?
TOO MANY LAW FACTORIES
S. W. STRAUS, A BUILDER

By Arthur Brisbane
(Copyright 1930 By King Features

THE ARGENTINE revolution is successful, and one result of it may be closer relations between the country and the Argentine. Irigoyen did not like the United States. We grew too fast to please him, and this he indicated by refusing, at intervals, to send any representative to Washington. There is none there at this moment.

If he can and will come here, now, we shall try to prove that we are not as bad as he thought.

Today Maine elects a governor, and wise ones predict a gain for the Democrats. Republicans will win, as a matter of course.

The Maine election is studied carefully by politicians. Coming ahead of other elections, it shows how the people feel. What citizens think of the slump, and their view on "who is to blame," may be gathered from the Maine vote. The dull registration seems to indicate that the Maine people are not much interested.

PRESIDENT LOWELL of Harvard says our national law-making factories are too numerous and too busy. He speaks of 49 law factories, grinding out laws at high speed, referring to the 48 state legislatures and the national congress.

He might say 98 factories, the upper and lower houses of the 48 states, plus the senate and house in Washington, the White House, legislating by suggestion, most properly, makes the number 99.

President Lowell says that there exist in America more statutes than automobiles, which is perhaps an exaggeration, as automobiles number about 25,000,000.

Of all the laws, the only one that attracts much attention is the prohibition law, and that is, unfortunately, flouted by the "respectable," exploited to the tune of billions a year by the criminals, and takes up the energy of government that ought to be concentrated on something more constructive than bootlegging.

S. W. STRAUS, who died in New York yesterday, was one of the most constructively useful Americans of his generation. He encouraged and facilitated building and did more than any man, at the close of the war, to make up for lack of some building during the war years.

Ignoring many opportunities for profit, he instructed his organization, which covers the United States, to concentrate on the financing of dwellings only. And he

TEN ELECTIONS SCHEDULES FOR U. S. THIS WEEK

Party Candidates Will Be Chosen For Many Posts In Voting

MAINE TO VOTE ON SENATORIAL RACE

Louisiana Democrats To Settle Long-Ransdell Issue On Tuesday

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—Ten states will choose party candidates for the senate, house or state offices this week, led by the election today in Maine, only inter-party contest before November.

Maine voters choose for senator between Wallace H. White, former Republican representative, and Frank H. Haskell, the Democratic choice. After this week only three states will have to select party nominees, Massachusetts, New York and Wisconsin holding primaries on September 16.

Maryland has no senatorial election this year and in the primary today the candidates for governor are unopposed. Albert C. Ritchie is to obtain the Democratic nomination to succeed himself while Mayor William F. Broening of Baltimore receives the Republican right to oppose him in November.

In South Carolina Tuesday a Democratic run-off primary is to decide between Senator Cole L. Blease and James F. Byrnes who opposed him unsuccessfully in 1924, and between Irba C. Blackwood and Olin D. Johnston, both of Spartanburg, for the governorship.

On the same day Louisiana Democrats will settle the contests between the veteran Senator Ransdell and Governor Huey P. Long. A successor to Senator C. Phipps is to be chosen Tuesday by Colorado Republicans. William V. Hodges, bearing the support of the retiring Phipps, is opposed by George H. Shaw.

At the same time in Michigan Senator James Couzens will be opposed by former Governor Chase S. Osborn, befriended by the Anti-Sa-

SHOW PLACES AT FAIR INCREASED

Capacity Of Hog Barns Doubled On Demand Of County Group

LISBON, Sept. 8.—Because of demand for show space made by hog and cattle breeders to H. E. Marsden, secretary of the county fair, the capacity of the hog barn has been doubled, and the display space in the cattle barn has been increased one-third its former size.

This increased show space will permit the showing of at least 250 additional head of hogs and cattle, and breeders of the latter stock in adjoining counties will now be enabled to show their stock here.

A new concrete floor has just been laid in Floral hall, and the recently built mercantile building has also been improved.

The county fair this year will be held four days and nights, from Sept. 16 to 19, this being the first year there has ever been a night fair in Columbiana county.

COLUMBIANA, Sept. 8.—Firestone post, American Legion, will have its annual street fair Friday and Saturday, Sept. 26-27.

The post has appointed R. M. Beck manager and the following committee chairman: premiums, T. H. Snyder; streets, H. M. Hoover; traffic, Thomas Harold; advertising, Ray Fisher; concessions, H. C. Culp; special prizes, Raymond Gleckler.

In former years this event has been held the Friday and Saturday following the county fair. This year, on account of the county fair running four days and nights, Sept. 16-19, the legion fair was put over a week.

Hit-Skip Motorist Sought In Accident
EAST LIVERPOOL, Sept. 8.—Police today are searching for a hit-skip driver as an aftermath of an automobile crash in which Gwendolyn Jones, 15, daughter of Richard Watson, and Charles Sloss, mechanic at the Rinehart airport, were injured on the Lincoln highway Saturday night.

The hit-skip driver escaped after his car sideswiped the Close automobile, hurtling it over a 30-foot embankment.

ARLINGTON TOMB VISIT PAID BY FRENCH FLIERS

Coste, Bellonte Honored By President Hoover; Lindbergh Present

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—A quiet moment of reverence was spent at the tomb of the unknown soldier today by Dieudonne Coste and Maurice Bellonte before the state luncheon at the White House honoring their westward crossing of the Atlantic.

Their wreath of tribute was laid at Arlington, while an army bugler sounded taps. The army band had played the Marseillaise while the aviators walked through the memorial amphitheater to the tomb. They saw the dome of the capitol and the Washington monument through the mist in the distance.

Coste and Bellonte appeared greatly refreshed by a restful night at the French embassy. The trips to Arlington and various government departments were made in automobiles which traveled at such a pace that the foreign visitors were seldom recognized.

Charles A. Lindbergh landed at Bolling field to attend President Hoover's luncheon. Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd and Capt. "Eddie" Rickenbacker, World War ace, were on the guest list.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—President Hoover today laid routine tasks aside to honor, on behalf of the nation, the two aerial heroes of the hour, Dieudonne Coste and Maurice Bellonte.

Governmental departments, diplomatic circles and the city of Washington joined in a program arranged as a tribute to the French fliers.

MONTOUR COMPLETES $100,000 TRANSACTION FOR RIVER PROPERTY

Railroad Company Buys Tract For Connection With Ohio River

The Montour Railroad company, which recently acquired the Youngstown & Suburban railroad as part of its plan of connecting Youngstown with the Ohio river, has purchased a tract of river front property, nearly one mile in length between Smiths Ferry and Midland, for a reported consideration of $100,000, it was announced today.

The property, which includes the Smiths Ferry hotel and five homes between the old Smiths Ferry road and the water line of the Ohio river, was acquired from William Semple of Pittsburgh, according to a deed which has been filed for record at Beaver, Pa. The tract which is south of the Pennsylvania railroad tracks begins at a point near Dry Run in Smiths Ferry and extends to a short distance below the western end of the Georgetown Island.

The deal also includes the ferry which is operated between Smiths Ferry and Georgetown by Edward Alexander. No charge in the operation of the ferryboat or the occupants of the houses on the tract will be made for the present, it was announced.

The new owner, according to the deed is to observe the right of way of the Pennsylvania railroad and existing highways through the tract and is given the right to the water supply which begins north of the improved highway and follows to homes on the tract.

The Montour company, which maintains its office in Pittsburgh and a branch office in Youngstown, will hold the property for river docks and wharves which will be constructed in the event permission is given to extend its line to the river.

Branch Line Constructed
The Montour recently constructed a six-mile branch line from Columbiana to Signal where it connects with the Pittsburgh, Lisbon & Western railroad. Two applications for permission to build a 3-mile branch line between Millrock on the P. L. & W. to the Ohio river at Smiths Ferry were refused by the interstate commerce commission after two of the four trunk lines entering the Youngstown district opposed the line on the ground that they were prepared to provide the service.

Prisoner Disturbs Peace Of Cellmates; Ejected From Jail

EVANSTON, ILL., Sept. 8.—Now that Eugene Moore has been put out of jail for disturbing the peace of the prisoners, everything is hot-tototy again.

Eugene plays the harmonica, which explains everything. He can pipe a high note like nobody's business. He can run up and down the scale real nice. He can rip forth a march, linger over a waltz or get hot and bothered over the "St. Louis Blues." He's pretty good.

But a jail is no place to play a harmonica, although many people will say that a jail is a great place for a harmonica player. When the law tossed Eugene in jail yesterday for having no visible means of support, he settled himself on the edge of his cell cot, wiped off the harmonica lovingly, and cut loose.

His first number was the sextette from Lucia, and he took all six parts. The finish was greeted with mutterings. He then let go with a

CITIZENS GREET NEW REGIME IN ARGENTINA RIOT

President Leaves Office After Demonstrations; Swear In Officials

PARTISANS TO OLD RULE UNDER ARREST

21 Killed, More Than 200 Wounded In Fight; Jail Offenders

(By Associated Press)
BUENOS AIRES, ARGENTINE, Sept. 8.—All Argentina today welcomed the revolution by which President Hipolito Irigoyen and his regime were ousted from office, and shared a nation-wide holiday declared for the purpose of swearing in new ministers at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

Most of the people of Buenos Aires started out for their accustomed work this forenoon, not knowing the holiday was in force. They gladly joined the enormous crowd that gathered before the government house or took part in parades, enthusiastically shouting for the revolution.

The military Junta headed by General Jose Evaristo Arburu, declared the inauguration of the new ministers should be one of "solemnity befitting the moment."

Appoint New Officials
The new government continued to designate officials throughout the country, issuing widespread orders for the arrests of certain ministers and officials whose part in the rebellion appeared doubtful.

(By Associated Press)
BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 8.—The revolution which Saturday night overthrew the government by President Hipolito Irigoyen and established a new regime headed by General Jose Evaristo Arburu today spread to every corner of the republic.

Province after province telegraphed its adhesion to the new order.

Federal intervenors were removed and new provincial government heads, designated by the Junta or provisional government installed by General Arburu at Buenos Aires took charge.

In Buenos Aires citizens returned to work today after retirement of President Irigoyen in favor of Vice President Martinez, mutiny of the army and navy, actual resignation of President Irigoyen and his lieutenant, practically a prisoner, in a military barracks, and establishment of a new government headed by General Arburu.

Marital law continued in force today and the atmosphere was charged with tension, yet calm prevailed.

Ex-President Arrested
As General Arburu's government move to entrench itself firmly various members of the old regime were arrested. Irigoyen was imprisoned in a military barracks. Guards about the place professed to be there to prevent any of the populace, which two years ago returned him to office by an overwhelming vote, from harming him.

Severe fighting occurred in front of the government newspaper, La Epoca. The paper was burned by the mob. Twenty-one were killed in the fighting and more than 200 wounded. President Irigoyen signed his resignation, and General Arburu formed a new cabinet, a civil body composed principally of members of the old opposition.

In Buenos Aires three men captured while looting during the political excitement were taken out and shot.

Relief Work Handicapped By Condition Of Roads; 1,000 Reported Ill

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—The Navy department announced today that a destroyer would be sent to Santo Domingo with medical and relief supplies to aid hurricane victims.

At the request of the American Red Cross the department ordered Rear Admiral W. R. Sexton, commander of the scouting fleet destroyer squadrons to dispatch a destroyer from Newport, R. I., to arrive at New York city by sundown today. At New York the vessel will receive a cargo of medical and relief supplies.

(By Associated Press)
SANTO DOMINGO, Sept. 8.—Santo Domingo, devastated by a hurricane last Wednesday, today took more than 4,000 lives, today feared that outbreaks of disease would cause a scourge as bad as the storm itself.

Insufficient medical supplies, unclean streets and the lack of food all contributed to a condition which worried native and visiting physicians. Cremation of the dead continued.

The attitude of physicians probably was best indicated in that all are taking every prophylactic injection possible. With the hospital survey unfinished more than 1,000 storm victims already have been found to have gangrene, or other infections.

Inoculate 1300 Persons
At one camp yesterday more than 1,300 persons took anti-toxin inoculations for typhoid. Medical supplies are sent here from San Juan and Havana.

The task of cleaning the city's streets of all their debris is proving impossible. There is not an automobile or truck, or wagon in the country which was not damaged.

PROTECT CHILDREN

With the return of 2,500 Salem children to their studies in public school classrooms today, the city is again brought face to face with hazards of motor vehicle traffic and the perils these children must face if all possible precautions in driving are not taken by motorists.

It is of the highest importance that every safeguard be thrown about these children of school age to insure them against injury and to reduce traffic accidents here to a minimum. School officials and city police authorities recognize the hazards and join in pleas that drivers operate automobiles in the city with utmost care.

The responsibility of every Salem resident who sits at the steering wheel of an automobile is apparent today. Lives of young children are smuffed out in great numbers throughout the country each school year as a result of accidents and more than 90 per cent are avoidable.

A new traffic ordinance has been adopted by city council, placing before the driving public a more concise system of traffic regulation. It is vitally important that these laws be obeyed and immediate steps should be taken by the police department to insure their enforcement.

A PUZZLER

It is easy to imagine the perplexity of the German authorities who arrested the American racketeer, Jack (Legs) Diamond, only to find that the New York City police, whom they thought they were favoring, didn't want him for anything and would the Germans please get rid of him some other way. Diamond is a hoodlum and a well-known one. His reputation is so unsavory that when he sailed to England they refused to let him come into the country; when he was found in Belgium he was so unwelcome that no time was lost in dumping him over the line into Germany. It was a splendid opportunity to do the dear old United States a service, reasoned the Germans. We'll send him back.

New York's refusal to accept him is understandable enough in this country. The truth of the matter is that there was nothing on Diamond—no charge against him. Of course he was a racketeer, everyone knew that, but no one ever had seen him kill anyone and there was no reason to deprive him of his liberty—at least the New York police didn't know of any.

That isn't the way such matters are handled in Europe if one may believe the rather scanty bits of European crime news that reach this country. A hoodlum there is an outcast. As long as he keeps in the background he may get along but once he acquires a reputation, he acquires the stigma that should go with it. He is hunted down and made so miserable that it is easier to go to jail and finish his days there.

In America, a hoodlum is a national figure, mentioned in the same breath with heroes and great men. Racketeers are dubbed "underworld kings" and their rottenness is glossed over with tinsel. People are interested in them because they have money and money can do most anything, it seems. A hoodlum never thinks of going to jail unless there is a police shake-up and a vigorous prodding of John Law by indignant citizens. And then he goes only temporarily until an unscrupulous lawyer can get him out via the red tape ladder.

Yes, naturally these things were very perplexing to hoodlum Diamond's unwilling hosts on the other side of the Atlantic. Over their beer and cognac they must have meditated at length upon the strangeness of the American people.

What Others Say

THE STAGE

Cardinal Hayes of the New York archdiocese is joined by the Right Reverend Bishop William T. Manning in his attack on the American stage. Bishop Manning asserts: "The present degradation of the stage is a calamity and a reflection upon all of us."

The Catholic prelate approaches the matter with militant ardor. Earl Carroll is producing his "Vanities" and the more clamorous "Lysistrata." With respect to the latter it may be said that while Aristophanic humor may have met the taste of his age when rendered into New Yorkese it is quite literally something else again. As a matter of fact, as Monsignor Lavelle puts it, the two productions demonstrate "a very inferior opinion of the taste and character of the fine men and women" who attend the theaters.

Rabbi Stephen Wise makes the third distinguished New York cleric to denounce the particular plays mentioned and the present tendency of the stage to present representations to the general public. He said: "I speak for the best intelligence and the high standards of my people in pledging support to any movement which would fumigate the drama, and again make the theater a place of enlightenment and beauty rather than a cesspool."

Broad, bawdy, animal humor is not—at present—to be hounded from the stage just because eminent and decent religious leaders condemn and denounce it. Their chief concern should be with the people, "the fine men and women" who patronize and—shall it be said, who heartily enjoy—the presentations which disclose that "frankness" and complacent realism joined with spectacular beauty and opulence are not repugnant in the eyes and consciousness of present-day sophisticated and "emancipated" multitudes of "fine men and women" who seek relaxation in the suggestive mimicry of stage offerings, and possibly in other directions.

"Vanities" and "Lysistrata" without paying audiences to witness them would not last long. In the meantime, if we fail to attend the theater we may perhaps turn to Shakespeare, Racine, Moliere, Arbutnot and Rabelais for the mental pabulum our souls may desire. —Cincinnati Enquirer.

HEALTH

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D., United States Senator from New York
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City

What a number of things there are to worry about! A lot of worrying done over nosebleeds.

One of the most common of childhood ailments is bleeding from the nose. Usually it is not at all serious. Nose bleed is almost always founded on some local disturbance, easily accounted for and corrected. It is always well to see a doctor if nose bleed occurs often, or if the bleeding is long continued. A very great loss of blood is not good for anyone. But sometimes Nature takes this way of getting rid of too much blood in one place, a congested area somewhere in the body.

In our northern climate, especially on the Atlantic sea coast, and inland on the Great Lakes, where there is much moisture in the atmosphere, catarrh is one of the most common ailments. One who has repeated colds and catarrh is very apt to have nose bleed from broken tissues in the nose. There is a chronic inflammation of the tissues. Scabs or crusts are formed in the nose and when removed bleeding is sure to be produced.

In some acute fevers nose bleed is a symptom. Measles, influenza, pneumonia, diphtheria, whooping cough, scarlet fever and especially typhoid fever, are such diseases. Condition where the quality of the blood is reduced, as in anemia, may be accompanied by nose bleed.

Of course, if you have a blow on the nose or some other injury there you would expect to have bleeding after it. But don't worry, nature has provided a clotting of the blood to stop the flow of blood. The ordinary natural processes usually will stop the nose bleed.

There are several simple remedies that can be used in case of nose bleed. Cold applications on the back of the neck or over the nose are recommended. Sometimes putting the feet in hot water will draw the circulation from the head and thus assist in controlling the bleeding. Pinching the nose between the thumb and finger often will make pressure to control the hemorrhage. Another good thing to use is tannic acid dissolved in water. This can be applied on cotton. Clear the nose by blowing out the blood clots and then push into the nasal passage a cotton tampon saturated with the fluid. You may use peroxide of hydrogen or adrenalin chloride in the same manner. The latter is a solution which has marked astringency.

The sight of blood is apt to frighten people. We are taught that the blood stream is the very life of the body and, of course, it is. But fear is foolish, for it sets the heart to beating strongly, and this, in turn, increases the bleeding. Say soothing things to the patient. Calm his fears.

If everything is not all right in a short time call a doctor or take the patient to the nearest clinic.

Twenty Years Ago

(Issue of Sept. 8, 1910)

Fifty Years Ago Today — The Lady Elgin, American mail steamer, was run into during an excursion trip on Lake Michigan and 300 of her passengers drowned. The proprietor of the London Illustrated News and his son were among the victims.

Lisbon—Female members of the freshmen class in the high school were initiated this morning by the girls of the other classes when school assembled. Each girl was forced to take a swallow of lukewarm lemon water and a large slice of hamburger cheese.

Miss Maude Stone, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Stone, East Seventh street, left Wednesday evening for Springfield, Utah, where she will teach in the Hungerford academy, a Presbyterian home mission school.

Mrs. C. M. Day, Franklin avenue, was surprised by 20 friends Wednesday evening, the affair celebrating her birthday anniversary. She was presented a fine umbrella.

Columbus—This city is having a street car strike and dynamiting of street cars commenced again this morning. One conductor was slightly injured. The state fair here is proving a financial failure. There is less than half the normal attendance.

Miss Alice Haviland, East Seventh street, has gone to Ashland, Ky., to teach in the schools there.

C. S. French went to Columbus Wednesday to attend the state fair and a meeting of the Ohio Car Improvement society, of which he is an officer.

Columbus—The prohibition party is the first to file its ticket with the secretary, Henry A. Thompson, of Dayton, is candidate for governor.

Misses Lois Lora and Gertrude Little, of Salem, were in Alliance Wednesday on their way to their new home in Los Angeles, Calif. They will visit points of interest enroute there.

The Stars Say

For Tuesday, September 9

A day of rather disquieting and unsettled state of affairs is the prognosis based on the lunar transits in power. Papers and writings may give concern and a generally adverse and trying situation may arise, which it will be difficult to compose. It would be wise to postpone activities where possible, keeping an eye alert for treachery and falsehood and duplicity.

Those whose birthday it is may prepare for a year in which many frustrating and delaying influences may be encountered. It is admonished that attention be directed to routine affairs, postponing large adventures, but keeping alert against fraud, deception and slander.

A child born on this day may be quick and clever, but may have to work hard for any success it may wrest against stubborn obstacles. It should be fitted for this by education and training.

NEW YORK Day by Day

by O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—Diary of a modern Pepys: Stirred by a hula-baloo in the street and a Park avenue burgher in tails and silk hat was on the loose and a constable led him away, still shouting. So to my barber where I dropped to sleep again and he let me sleep an hour.

At high noon with my wife to a wedding and the groom a statue in chalk and to see Rube Goldberg, newly home from Hollywood. Thence walking the avenue and home where came evening stars from Jim Oviatt, which will not pop like a new saddle when bowing.

Labour and with Mike and Alice Hogg along Post road, stopping at an Italian inn near Marmonick but without the man, agent, wanting nothing to drink save seed tea. Reading "Andromeda in Wimpole Street," the romance of Elizabeth Barrett Browning, until late.

My Hollywood under-cover man relays a pointless story of Gloria Swanson, Bebe Daniels and the Spanish shawl. Miss Swanson wore the shawl to a party. Miss Daniels gurgled her admiration, and was forced to accept it as a gift. Two weeks later Miss Swanson dropped in to see Miss Daniels. The shawl decorated a piano lid. And why not? Piano lids, balconies or ash cans are the place for them.

Window shopping high lights: A white net caplet lighter for M. Lady Necktie, hose and handkerchiefs in black and white for gentlemen. A mother of pearl lipstick with diamond solitaire. Hand mirrors with white background. A white cane with black knob for evening. Polo coats coats of white cashmere. It looks like a white winter.

Personal nomination for the dandiest girl I have ever known—Mrs. O. O. McIntyre.

Every metropolitan theater may be emptied in five minutes. All are fireproof. The most horrible theater fire in the history of the town was in the Brooklyn theater, 50 years ago. The dead totaled 300. "The Two Orphans" was playing when flames licked out of the ceiling.

ing. There were no fire escapes and only four small exits.

Something I've never seen in New York: An aproned housewife with head turbaned in a black cloth, using a leather duster.

And I wonder if there are any old fashioned people left who just come into a room at parties instead of "making an entrance."

To the Broadway consciousness every butter and egg man hails from Oswego. This is coupled with the heavy theory every vap is a product of Oshkosh. A note from a head waiter says in years of greeting out-of-towners in a sucker establishment he never met a person from Oswego or Oshkosh.

A rich job, who made a fortune interior decorating, has shirts especially dyed in pastel tints by Charvet in Paris. And wears, the ribbon bow cuff links. I don't want to be around when he sits down. An edging of lace might show.

An impressive event of last week concerns the personal service of a laundry, whose slogan is: "Let us be a mother to you!" A month ago, a bachelor—Bernard Sobel, if you are a hound for details—leaping into his shorts, found a top button gone. Casting about for a substitute he got results with a paper clip. The clip remained when it went to the laundry and came back slightly rusty. On the second visit it was more rusted. But on the third trip where the rusty clip recently was—a bright and untarnished new clip gleamed.

Silly Joe, a character in our town, recently observed: "I wish I had as much to eat as I know where the court house is."

"I thought you were going abroad this summer," post-cards Elaine R. No, indeed, I summered in Itasca. (Copyright, 1930, McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

In addition, WLW plans a college night each Friday preceding Saturday's games. This program will consist of musical numbers featuring college songs of the larger schools of the country.

In addition, arrangements have been made for Coaches Hurry Up Yost of Michigan, Bob Zuppke of Illinois, Mal Stevens of Yale, Arnold Harman of Harvard, Alonzo Stang of Chicago, Bill Roper of Princeton, and perhaps Knute Rockne of Notre Dame to speak, forecasting games their teams play the following day.

East Palestine Slated To Meet Red, Blue In First Battle

ALLIANCE, Sept. 8.—Fifty ambitious gridiron hopefuls are going through their paces at North City Park field under the guidance of Coach George M. Wilcox and Leonard Whitacre, his able assistant.

That squad of approximately 50 will carry the football hopes of Alliance high school during the 1930 season. Exercises designed to harden muscles and prepare bodies for the wear, tear and grind of the long campaign ahead, are the order of the day.

Drill on fundamentals and careful interpretation of the 1930 playing code are highlights of the daily sessions. Just now such important elementary phases as blocking and charging are being stressed. By next week the more serious business of tackling and actual scrimmage will become matters of fact.

Wilcox and Whitacre must build the semblance of an eleven to battle a picked team of ex-highs one week from Saturday. The following week the Red and Blue will pry the lid off its 1930 season on the home field with an engagement against the strong East Palestine eleven. The East Palestine squad includes 11 letter men and promises to give Alliance a tough argument.

PROTECT CHILDREN

With the return of 2,500 Salem children to their studies in public school classrooms today, the city is again brought face to face with hazards of motor vehicle traffic and the perils these children must face if all possible precautions in driving are not taken by motorists.

It is of the highest importance that every safeguard be thrown about these children of school age to insure them against injury and to reduce traffic accidents here to a minimum. School officials and city police authorities recognize the hazards and join in pleas that drivers operate automobiles in the city with utmost care.

The responsibility of every Salem resident who sits at the steering wheel of an automobile is apparent today. Lives of young children are snuffed out in great numbers throughout the country each school year as a result of accidents and more than 90 per cent are avoidable. A new traffic ordinance has been adopted by city council, placing before the driving public a more concise system of traffic regulation. It is vitally important that these laws be obeyed and immediate steps should be taken by the police department to insure their enforcement.

A PUZZLER

It is easy to imagine the perplexity of the German authorities who arrested the American racketeer, Jack (Legs) Diamond, only to find that the New York City police, whom they thought they were favoring, didn't want him for anything and would the Germans please get rid of him some other way. Diamond is a hoodlum and a well-known one. His reputation is so unsavory that when he sailed to England they refused to let him come into the country; when he was found in Belgium he was so unwelcome that no time was lost in dumping him over the line into Germany. It was a splendid opportunity to do the dear old United States a service, reasoned the Germans. We'll send him back.

New York's refusal to accept him is understandable enough in this country. The truth of the matter is that there was nothing on Diamond—no charge against him. Of course he was a racketeer, everyone knew that, but no one ever had seen him kill anyone and there was no reason to deprive him of his liberty—at least the New York police didn't know of any.

That isn't the way such matters are handled in Europe if one may believe the rather scanty bits of European crime news that reach this country. A hoodlum there is an outcast. As long as he keeps in the background he may get along but once he acquires a reputation, he acquires the stigma that should go with it. He is hunted down and made so miserable that it is easier to go to jail and finish his days there.

In America, a hoodlum is a national figure, mentioned in the same breath with heroes and great men. Racketeers are dubbed "underworld kings" and their rottenness is glossed over with tinsel. People are interested in them because they have money and money can do most anything, it seems. A hoodlum never thinks of going to jail unless there is a police shake-up and a vigorous prodding of John Law by indignant citizens. And then he goes only temporarily until an unscrupulous lawyer can get him out via the red tape ladder.

Yes, naturally these things were very perplexing to hoodlum Diamond's unwilling hosts on the other side of the Atlantic. Over their beer and cognac they must have meditated at length upon the strangeness of the American people.

What Others Say

THE STAGE

Cardinal Hayes of the New York archdiocese is joined by the Right Reverend Bishop William T. Manning in his attack on the American stage. Bishop Manning asserts: "The present degradation of the stage is a calamity and a reflection upon all of us."

The Catholic prelate approaches the matter with militant ardor. Earl Carroll is producing his "Vanities" and the more classical "Lysistrata." With respect to the latter it may be said that while Aristophanic humor may have met the taste of his age, when rendered into New Yorkese it is quite literally something else again. As a matter of fact, as Monsignor Lavigne puts it, the two productions demonstrate "a very inferior opinion of the taste and character of the fine men and women who attend the theaters."

Rabbi Stephen Wise makes the third distinguished New York cleric to denounce the particular plays mentioned and the present tendency of the stage to present representation in general. He said: "I speak for the best intelligence and the high standards of any people in pledging support to any movement which would fumigate the drama, and again make the theater a place of enchantment and beauty rather than a cesspool."

Broad, bawdy, animal humor is not at present to be hounded from the stage just because eminent and decent religious leaders condemn and denounce it. Their chief concern should be with the people, "the fine men and women" who patronize and—shall it be said, who heartily enjoy—the presentations which disclose that "frankness" and complacent realism, joined with spectacular beauty and opulence, are not repugnant in the eyes and consciousness of present-day sophisticated and "emancipated" multitudes of "fine men and women" who seek relaxation in the suggestive mimicry of stage offerings, and possibly in other directions.

"Vanities" and "Lysistrata" without paying audiences to witness them would not last long. In the meantime, if we fail to attend the theater we may perhaps turn to Shakespeare, Boccaccio, Pteronius, Arbiter and Rabelais for the mental pabulum our souls may desire. —Cincinnati Enquirer.

What a number of things there are to worry about! A lot of worrying done over nose-bleed.

One of the most common of childhood ailments is bleeding from the nose. Usually it is not at all serious. Nose bleed is almost always founded on some local disturbance, easily accounted for and corrected. It is always well to see a doctor if nose bleed occurs often, or if the bleeding is long continued. A very great loss of blood is not good for anyone. But sometimes Nature takes this way of getting rid of too much blood in one place, a congested area somewhere in the body.

In our northern climate, especially on the Atlantic sea coast, and inland on the Great Lakes, where there is much moisture in the atmosphere, catarrh is one of the most common ailments. One who has repeated colds and catarrh is very apt to have nose bleed from broken tissues in the nose. There is a chronic inflammation of the tissues. Scabs or crusts are formed in the nose and when removed bleeding is sure to be produced. In some acute fevers nose bleed is a symptom. Measles, influenza, pneumonia, diphtheria, whooping cough, scarlet fever and especially typhoid fever, are such diseases. Condition where the quality of the blood is reduced, as in anemia, may be accompanied by nose bleed. Of course, if you have a blow on the nose or some other injury there you would expect to have bleeding.

The Stars Say—

For Tuesday, September 9

A day of rather disquieting and unsettled state of affairs is the prognosis based on the lunar transits in power. Papers and writings may give concern and a generally adverse and trying situation may arise, which it will be difficult to compose. It would be wise to postpone activities where possible, keeping an eye alert for treachery and falsehood and duplicity.

Those whose birthday it is to prepare for a year in which many frustrating and delaying influences may be encountered. It is admonished that attention be directed to routine affairs, postponing large adventures, but keeping alert against fraud, deception and slander. A child born on this day may be quick and clever, but may have to work hard for any success it may wrest against stubborn obstacles. It should be fitted for this by education and training.

HOTEL WINTON

by O.O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—Diary of a modern Peppy: Stirred by a hula-balo in the street and a Park avenue burgher in tails and silk hat was on the loose and a constable led him away, still shouting. So to my barber where I dropped in to sleep again and he let me sleep an hour.

At high noon with my wife to a wedding and the groom a statue in chalk and to see Rube Goldberg, newly home from Hollywood. Thence walking the avenue and home where came evening shirts from Jim Oviatt, which will not pop like a new saddle when bowing.

Labour and with Mike and Alice Hogg along Post road, stopping at an Italian inn near Marmoreck but irritated the management wanting nothing to drink save iced tea. Reading "Andromeda in Wimpole Street," the romance of Elizabeth Barrett Browning, until late.

My Hollywood under-cover man relays a pointless story of Gloria Swanson, Bebe Daniels and the Spanish shawl. Miss Swanson wore the shawl to a party Miss Daniels surmised her admiration, and was forced to accept it as a gift. Two weeks later Miss Swanson dropped in to see Miss Daniels. The shawl decorated a piano lid. And why not? Piano lids, balconies or ash cans are the place for them.

Window shopping high lights: A white heart cigarette lighter for Mady Neckties, hose and handkerchiefs in black and white for gentlemen. A mother of pearl lipstick with diamond solitaire. Hand mirrors with white background. A white cane with black knob for evening. Polo coats coats of white cashmere. It looks like a white winter.

Personal nomination for the dandiest girl I have ever known—Mrs. O. O. McIntyre.

Every metropolitan theater may be emptied in five minutes. All are fireproof. The most horrible theater fire in the history of the town was in the Brooklyn theater, 50 years ago. The dead totaled 300. "The Two Orphans" was playing when flames licked out of the ceiling.

YOU soon tire of a restaurant that has only seven bills of fare—one for each day of the week, and then back to the beginning again.

The two things that make a restaurant good are good food and lots of variety. Good food includes good cooking, and variety includes exploring the provision markets for the countless things that can be served, in season or out.

The pleasure of eating at any of the restaurants at Hotel Winton is increased by the wide variety of choice—a menu that is easy to read—a list of fixed-price breakfasts, luncheons and dinners—a number of specials for which the house is famous, and—always—good foods properly prepared.

National League Race To Be Decided By Intersectional Series

THE DAY In Sports

Cardinals Score Two Victories Over Reds To Gain On Chicago

The National League pennant race depends on the final intersectional series. The Giants have done well so far this season in entertaining westerners, while the Cubs have turned in about as many victories in the east as their stay-at-home rivals. The St. Louis Cardinals now hold second place only two and a half games behind the Cubs and are closer to the league leading Cubs than any team has been for some time. The Redbirds scored a double victory over Cincinnati yesterday, 11 to 6, and 4 to 2, making it seven straight victories and a clean sweep of the 11 home games against Cincinnati. The Cubs and the Giants both lost last games.

Bucs Beat Cubs
While Rynn and Hanes were leading the Reds in check, the latter with a five hit performance, four Cubs pitchers failed to stop Pittsburgh. The Cubs overcame one Pittsburgh lead only to have the Pirates score six runs in the last three innings for a 9 to 7 triumph. The Giants found the Brooklyn jinx working during a one-game visit to Flatbush. Dazzy Vance did most of the jinxing while the Robins supported him with timely hitting and brilliant fielding to win 5 to 2.

Two teams which are clear out of the running put the leaders to shame in yesterday's performances as the Phillies and the Boston Braves split a double-header. Philadelphia won the first 1 to 0, although Ed Brandt allowed only two hits while Phil Collins gave the Braves seven. Boston turned the tables in the second, winning 2 to 1.

Macks Lose

It's Your A&P Store
As the town you live in is yours

Housewives, visiting a young merchant's store in 1859, found goods on his shelves they liked—and—as housewives do—told others.

Thus, A&P's business grew from this single store. First one customer brought another. Then one neighborhood brought another.

A&P has not forgotten why it outgrew a single store. It knows it must make good in each community if its stores are to be accepted by many.

Because A&P realizes this, the A&P store nearest you is run by your townsmen. Men in your own locality keep your store in touch with the A&P system. The food on its shelves is there because you have asked for it.

A&P is made up of many such stores, just as the United States is made up of many communities like your own. Your A&P store serves you better because it is part of a large system, just as your community suits you better because it is part of a great nation.

Transportation To City Impossible Due To Heavy Rainfall

for the trucks are under construction, one at Port Au Prince, Haiti, where United States marines have a number of trucks, and the other from Porto Rico, where 20 street cleaning trucks are available.

One of the principal needs is good drinking water. Work is beginning in re-establishing the power house, and in reconstruction of the water line.

(By Associated Press)

PORT AU PRINCE, HAITI, Sept. 8.—Heavy rains lasting more than 24 hours have seriously swollen the Ozama river and made travel through the hurricane zone in the interior of Santo Domingo all but impossible today. The Ozama's flow has increased to 15 miles an hour, preventing boats from entering its mouth.

Airplanes formed virtually the only mode of travel into the area where last week about 4,000 persons lost their lives and far more than that number received injuries. Relief work went forward today as energetically as possible under such circumstances.

The population pathetically watched the arrival of each plane at the Santo Domingo field, hailing each as angels of mercy alighting from the sky amid a scene of great misery.

Aviation reconnaissance has shown that the hurricane after razing Santo Domingo city travelled northwest, destroying everything in its path in an area 25 to 40 miles wide for a distance of about 50 miles.

When the hurricane hit the side of the mountains, rising almost perpendicularly in its path, the storm actually skinned the south slope of the mountain range there and hurled into the air, touching only the high points in the succeeding ranges upon its course to the sea.

Plantations east of Santiago within the area of the storm were wiped out for a distance of 15 to 20 miles.

Relief work was greatly hampered by the condition of roads and rivers. The forwarding of food to the stricken areas was almost tied up.

Yesterday's rain destroyed all hope that the flood would subside within a week or ten days and it was admitted frankly today that the situation was grave.

He who conquers his wrath overcomes his greatest enemy—Syrus.

Today's Pattern

A stunning model for early fall retains gracefully flared capellets and adds a harmonizing poplin, which may, of course, be omitted. The skirt has just enough flare to be graceful, yet practical for the heavy silks in vogue. The deep, pointed vestee is flattering and decidedly slenderizing.

Pattern 1951 may be made of flat or canton crepe, dull satin, chiffon velvet, faille silk or moracain. In black and white it is stunning; if you prefer a color, brown, navy, dark green and the wine shades are very good. The vestee with these colors may be ecru, rose or beige.

May be obtained only in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36, 38 and 40. Size 14 requires 3 1/2 yards of 39-inch material.

Synthetic Chewing Gum One Of Latest Chemical Marvels

New Task Undertaken By Official As Hobby In Years Of Study

(By Associated Press)

CINCINNATI, Sept. 8.—Synthetic chewing gum, made by adding a dash of wartime chlorine to a new substance produced from benzene, is one of chemistry's latest marvels.

The new chew is described in a report made public by the American Chemical society at its meeting which began here today.

It substitutes for chicle, and like the natural product is tasteless and odorless. Experiments with it are incomplete and not in the commercial stage for gum, but indicate that as a chew it would have a medicinal effect.

The gum is an incidental discovery in a score of new commercial possibilities, some already in practice, all coming from this same new chemical, diphenyl. These commercial uses are reported in a technical paper by Chester H. Penning, of the commercial research department of Swann Research, Inc., of Anniston, Alabama.

Diphenyl is a milky colored solid made by uniting two benzene molecules, which thereupon become so different in character that instead of being explosive they are a substitute for steam for carrying heat. It was demand of gasoline refining for this heat carrying property that recently brought diphenyl into existence in quantity.

All the new substances reported today are obtained simply by adding to diphenyl various amounts of chlorine, which besides being a gas is familiar in the flavor of table salt.

BELGIUM GREET'S HEIR TO THRONE

BRUSSELS, Sept. 8.—Belgium rejoiced today in the birth of a new prince of the blood and heir in the direct male line to the throne.

The first child of the royal pair, born in 1927, is Princess Josephine Charlotte.

The boy was born at Stuyvenberg Castle, around which barbed wire had been stretched to keep away the curious. With the booming of a salute of 101 guns announcing the birth of a boy and heir, a crowd surrounded the castle to cheer the prince and his family.

Princess Astrid is 25 years old. She is the first daughter of Prince Charles of Sweden, brother of the Swedish king, and of Princess Ingeborg. She and Leopold were married Nov. 4, 1926.

REPORTER HITS GOVERNOR LONG

Newspaperman, Official In Battle In Room Of Hotel Today

NEW ORLEANS, La., Sept. 8.—Gov. Huey P. Long was struck on the nose today by William G. Wiegand, a reporter of the New Orleans Item, after the reporter said the governor had called him a profane name.

The reporter had gone into the governor's quarters in the Roosevelt hotel just ahead of a United States deputy marshal who had a subpoena for the governor's appearance in federal court in connection with the disappearance of Samuel Irby and James Terrell. As Wiegand entered the room he said he was seized by two bodyguards of the governor.

He said that as he was being held the governor called him a vile name on two occasions. The reporter said he broke loose from the guards and struck the governor. He declared the guards grabbed him again and the governor hit him twice in the face.

The governor threatened to have the reporter arrested for impersonating an officer but Robert S. Maestri, commissioner of conservation, dissuaded the governor. Gov. Long then apologized to Wiegand for calling him the name and Wiegand apologized for striking the governor.

The New Orleans Item has been waging a campaign against Gov. Long who seeks nomination as United States senator.

co-operated generously and wisely with those whom he knew to be competent builders.

FAR APART in some principles, Stalin of Russia and Mussolini of Italy, agree on certain points. They agree that when you have identified your enemies, or those that ignore your orders, the wise thing is to shoot them, and lose no time.

Every little while Russia shoots a group, small or large, for political offenses, and Italy has just executed four young Yugoslavs, accused of "terrorism." One of the Yugoslavs is alleged to have confessed a plot to assassinate Mussolini.

The four condemned were blindfolded, bound to chairs, their backs to the firing squad, and shot to death by 56 black shirts.

The men were shot the day after conviction under a law that punishes with death conspiracy against the life of the king, other royalty and the chief of the government, namely Mussolini.

There is no capital punishment in Italy, for ordinary non-political murders. But the life imprisonment is real life imprisonment, in solitude.

Mrs. Ruth McCormick, an intelligent woman, well fitted to represent and work for Illinois in the United States senate, may be defeated by the "drys," and especially by the votes of women.

An independent dry lady, running against her cannot be elected, but she may get enough votes to defeat Mrs. McCormick and elect Mr. Lewis.

HE IS AND ALWAYS has been as wet as the Gulf stream. Mrs. McCormick, while she would obey her state's mandate if it voted wet, is theoretically, and in her personal habits, as dry as the inside of a blast furnace.

Thus, the good dry ladies of Illinois, including the W. C. T. U. may defeat Mrs. McCormick, who is dry at heart, and elect Mr. Lewis who is wet inside and out, sincerely believing that the rain falls for grass and cows, not for human beings.

THIRD BODY OF EXPLORER FOUND

Journalists Visit Isle In North; Find Clues To Doomed Party

STOCKHOLM, Sept. 8.—The frozen northern wastes of White Island, or Hvitoen, have given up another body, presumably that of the third member of the Andree balloon expedition of 1897.

A party of journalists aboard the sealing vessel Ishjoern, excited at discovery of the crew of the Bratvaag on the island and hurrying themselves, managed to land Saturday and seek relics of the ill-fated expedition which Dr. Gunnar Hurn and his associates left behind.

The skeleton found was presumed to be that of Knut Frankel, third member of the Andree group, who it generally had been believed, died enroute to Whit Island from the spot where the balloon, in which they wished to cross the North Pole, came down. The crew of the Bratvaag found only two bodies. A group of bones they believed to be the remains of the third man turned out to be a polar bear's bones.

In addition to the third skeleton the Ishjoern party found a number of other things left by the Andree expedition of 33 years ago, including instruments, weapons, pieces of the basket below the Andree balloon and Frankel's notebooks. They said the camp was in excellent order. They believed the explorers died from a sudden catastrophe, such as a blizzard.

Ohio Edison Company

$6 PREFERRED
SHARES

... and what it means to Ohio

To over 15,000 of your fellow-citizens who are already partners here—profiting partners—this announcement simply recalls well-known facts—facts which they have proved to their own profit, backed by a record of continuous Preferred Dividends of the predecessor companies.

KEYNOTE! . . . to you and thousands of your fellow-citizens this message comes today as a keynote—keynote of investment opportunity—and also of significance to your community's own progress! A new name rises high on Ohio's horizon—OHIO EDISON—a name uniting old established Ohio companies for greater service to Ohio and her people.

Ohio Edison Company is a consolidation of successful and growing electric utilities, including Northern Ohio Power and Light Company, Pennsylvania-Ohio Power and Light Company, and The Ohio Edison Company. Electric light, heat and power is supplied to 135 Ohio cities and towns in the important Akron, Youngstown and Springfield territories. Among the more than 176,000 customers are many of the nation's leading industries, well diversified in their nature and makers of products in daily use and need throughout the country. Sales of electricity for the past year exceeded 941,000,000 kilowatt hours—an increase of 150% since 1920 alone.

Ohio stands in a place of industrial leadership in the nation, and in this leadership the great Akron, Youngstown and Springfield territories stand among the most important.

Power! . . . this progress and leadership demands power, light and heat!

Side by side with the forces of progress in Ohio—Ohio Edison Company builds to meet the public need for power—light—heat . . . for industry—store—home—and community. Increasing use by present customers; science developing new ways to apply Electricity to man's use; new communities connected to the system—all these add to Ohio's growing requirements.

See what 10 years has brought—these figures tell of increasing successful service, vast construction and a busy investment:

ELECTRIC CUSTOMERS		ELECTRIC SALES
1920	74,027	1920	375,802,424 KWH.
1929	176,766	1929	941,072,314 KWH.

So this announcement sounds a keynote of progress—for back of this offering of Preferred Shares is the significant fact that more building goes on—that this investment means the development of more resources of public service, for every invested dollar goes into these assets, working for and sharing in Ohio's progress—and earning an income for the great family of public partners who are investors here—backed by the combined earning power of the great companies joined for public service in the new Ohio Edison Company.

Today over 15,000 public partners own an interest in this business. Here stands a true and popular public ownership—where the citizen invests in his public service, helps build resources for the common good, and receives a direct, personal cash profit therefrom.

Ohio Edison $6 Preferred Shares offer you a good place for savings—a good place to build a nest egg for future comfort and protection—a dependable cash income.

HOME-MAKING HELPS

By Wanda Barton

Don't Decey Food Openly

Once there was a little girl who ate spinach and liked it. She had never heard any derogatory remarks made about this succulent vegetable, and, having been permitted to form her own opinion, she enjoyed it.

Sharp dislikes of food very often have no basis in experience—they are simply parrotisms, especially among children. When her elders make faces at the mere mention of spinach, like onions, parsnips or eggplant, the child trails along with the crowd, and she, too, refuses to eat them.

Perhaps there was real wisdom in the law laid down by the old-fashioned etiquette books that it was a breach of good manners to comment on food served, even flatteringly. However, nowadays, when food and diet are standard topics of conversation at the best as well as the worst regulated tables, personal prejudices are dragged out into the open. And nothing can be done about it among grownups. If guests want to discourse (more or less entertainingly) on the 18-day diet, or why they have a complex about calf's liver they will, so let them enjoy themselves.

But food prejudices should not be allowed to grow around the children's table. If the child hears only praise of everything that is served he will stand a good chance of developing into the one who likes everything. Suggestion sometimes does the work.

"I never eat a parsnip," said little Peggy, politely refusing the dish her big cousin offered her. It developed later that her father had an aversion for the food, and said so, often, and as little Peggy adored him she had never even tasted a parsnip until she went visiting. Her cousin gently but firmly insisted that she try it, went into mild ecstasies over it, assured little Peggy it was her own favorite food, and when Peggy finally allowed herself to be won over she quickly avowed a real fondness for parsnips—indeed, she began to demand it and to prefer it to everything else.

Civilized man can eat almost everything, since cooking adjusts all edible matter to our tastes. And, barring the foods that are definitely repugnant to different constitutions (and there are such, it must be admitted), most aversions are unthinking, merely a prejudice, and not based on fact. Many persons there are who have never so much as tasted a tomato, because they heard it was of the deadly nightshade family, or cucumbers, because someone once said they were poisonous to the system, or tapicas, because in boarding school the children referred to it rudely as "cat's eye."

For the sake of the child's own comfort in later life it should hear only praise of all things edible and be encouraged to like everything.

"SON OF THE GODS"

At The State

When patrons of the State theatre attend the forthcoming run of "Son of the Gods," the first National and Vitaphone production starring Richard Barthelmess, they will see playing opposite him, Constance Bennett, his 24th leading lady.

During a brilliant career commencing ten years ago the star has had a round two dozen of the most beautiful and talented women on the American screen as her leading ladies. Including the famous Marguerite Clarke, whose leading man he was early in his career, the list contains the names of Lillian Gish, Dorothy Gish, the lamented Marjorie Daw, Louise Huff, Pauline Gail, Dorothy Mackall, Jetta Goudal, Madge Evans, May McAvoy, Dorothy Dornbar, Bessie Love, Patsy Ruth Miller, Lois Moran, Mary Astor, Molly O'Day, Dorothy Revier, Lina Basquette, Marion Nixon, Betty Compson, Lila Lee and lastly Constance Bennett.

"Son of the Gods" is a lavish screen production made on a huge scale and offering Barthelmess what is heralded as his most colorful role. It was adapted to the screen by Bradley King and directed by Frank Lloyd. The balance of the cast includes E. Allyn Warren, Mildred Van Dorn, Geneva Mitchell, Claude King, King Hou Chang, Anders Randolf and numerous others prominent in pictures.

It is a 100 per cent talking film with one sequence entirely in Technicolor.

"HELL HARBOR"

At the Grand

Lupe Velez is Anita, the daughter of Morgan, a descendant of the great buccaner in "Hell Harbor," the latest United Artists Inspiration picture at the Grand theater. The blood of pirates, intermingling with the royal corpses of Spanish ladies, courses through her veins and for the entire length of the picture Lupe is quite her own volcanic self.

"Hell Harbor" is a tale of pirate-like traders, modern incarnations of Kidd and Silver, who seek to steal, not only gold, but ladies' hearts. On the Island of Madre, a rough jewel of the Caribbean where a polyglot crowd makes life swift and interesting, Lupe as Anita is bested by a treacherous father who wishes to marry her to a snarled trader, played deftly and ably by that excellent character actor, Jean Hersholt. Out of the frustration of her father's attempt to marry her to Hersholt, the trader, comes Lupe's true love—a lover, American and bold—played by John Holland, last seen here in "She Goes to War," with Eleanor Boardman.

The featured players, Lupe and Jean Hersholt, play their parts admirably. Lupe gives a vigorous interpretation of the wild, young lass story impulse. For the first time she speaks and the voice which was heard singing in "Lady of the Pavements," comes now vibrantly and sweetly with the words of Anita in "Hell Harbor." Here is a naïveté in the manner in which Lupe speaks her lines that is altogether charming.

Fourth Dimension Theory To Be Described By Physicist

Discoveries Explained At Society's Meeting In Cincinnati Today

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—A man who weighed the world now is putting wires together to show how the figures of the fourth dimension of space would look to men if they could visualize the laws of that pet theory of higher mathematics.

Dr. Paul R. Heyl, bureau of standards physicist, said today he had undertaken the new task chiefly for his own amusement, though his products will be preserved by the bureau. He described the work as "making models to represent things the mind of man never has been able to imagine." The fourth dimension has been his hobby since boyhood.

No human being, Heyl explained, ever has really imagined the fourth dimensions of space. He himself recognizes it only in mathematical theory.

Great Contribution

The scientist made a significant contribution to man's knowledge of absolute facts when he announced last June, after more than six years intensive study, that the world would weigh 6,592,000,000,000,000,000,000,000 — roughly spoken, more than six thousand million million million — tons.

"One way of putting it," he mused today, "is this: If all the human race, with all its livestock suddenly were whisked to another planet, the weight of the earth would not be reduced by one million-millionth."

The 60-year-old scientist grinned at the suggestion of explaining the fourth dimension in simple language, but he offered:

"A straight line is in the first dimension; theoretically, you make it by moving a dot in any direction. Move that line and you get a plane figure, such as a square—theoretically, that is the second dimension. Move the square in a direction not contained in it, such as up or down, and you made a cube, a figure of the third dimension. Move that third dimension figure theoretically in some direction which we do not yet comprehend even in imagination, and the result is a figure of the fourth dimension."

Completes Models

While he spoke, he fingered the three models now complete. One resembled a ball of popcorn in which only the outlines of the grains could be seen—such a complicated mass of wires it was. Another looked like a set of triangles, all crushed together.

The models varied in size from several inches to more than a foot in diameter. Heyl has been working on them in spare time for more than a year, soldering black and white picture wire together to form the outlines. He hopes to complete them soon. The scientist smiled as he observed that the significance of his work was "perhaps nothing at all."

"But this, you see, is my way of having fun," he said, adding with a lighter smile, "I have known more dangerous hobbies."
